

"The best is none too good for us."

The symbols on the seal stand for the name of our school—the acorn and oak leaves for Oak—the three small trees for Park—the wavy lines for the River—and the trees again for the Forest, representing Oak Park and River Forest High School.

The TABULA 1942 TABULA

Oak Park
and River Forest

Township High School, Oak Park, Illinois, Volume 48

are proud of our school. It not only gives us the finest education possible, but it offers countless opportunities for development of outside interests. In this book we are attempting to show the three sides of student life which are developed at Oak Park. Naturally, the most important in a school is

since that is the primary purpose of its existence. Boys and girls need to be educated today to carry the responsibilities that lie ahead of them. We study not to learn a page of facts but to learn to think. Every student can find a subject to suit him, whether it be Latin or auto mechanics. Along with our scholarship, our

is well known throughout this area. In our gym classes and in our after-school sports the ability to cooperate and to forget personal ambitions for the good of the team is developed. We admire good sportsmanship not only on the field, but in the bleachers. At all student gatherings with others abounds. There is a club or activity at Oak Park offering each student a chance to develop his personality and interests. Wherever we go after we leave Oak Park, we will find fellowship important. The friends we make at clubs, dances, plays and conferences will increase the enjoyment we get out of high school.

We the Editors

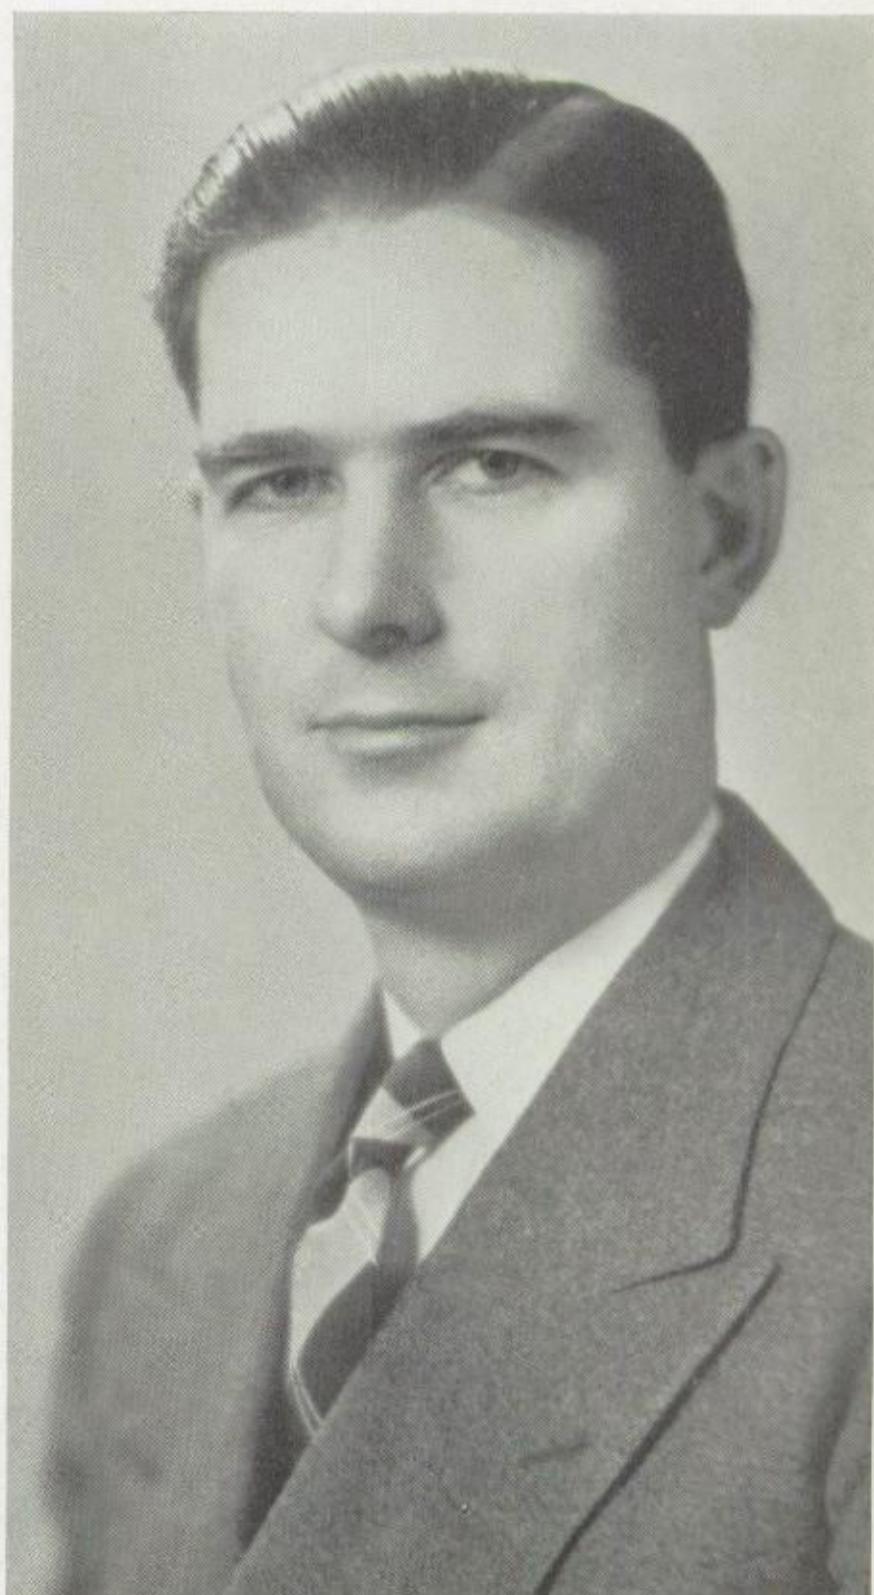

Some of the editors take time out to go for a walk in front of the school, dedicate this book to one of our newest deans. For three years he has been an adviser for the junior class. His understanding of student problems has made him a good friend of every junior boy.

As a member of the Chemistry Department and sponsor of Chemistry Club, he has made the field of science more interesting to all of his students.

Wherever we meet him, he is always cheerful and friendly. An outstanding member of the Oak Park faculty—we are happy to dedicate this Tabula to you,

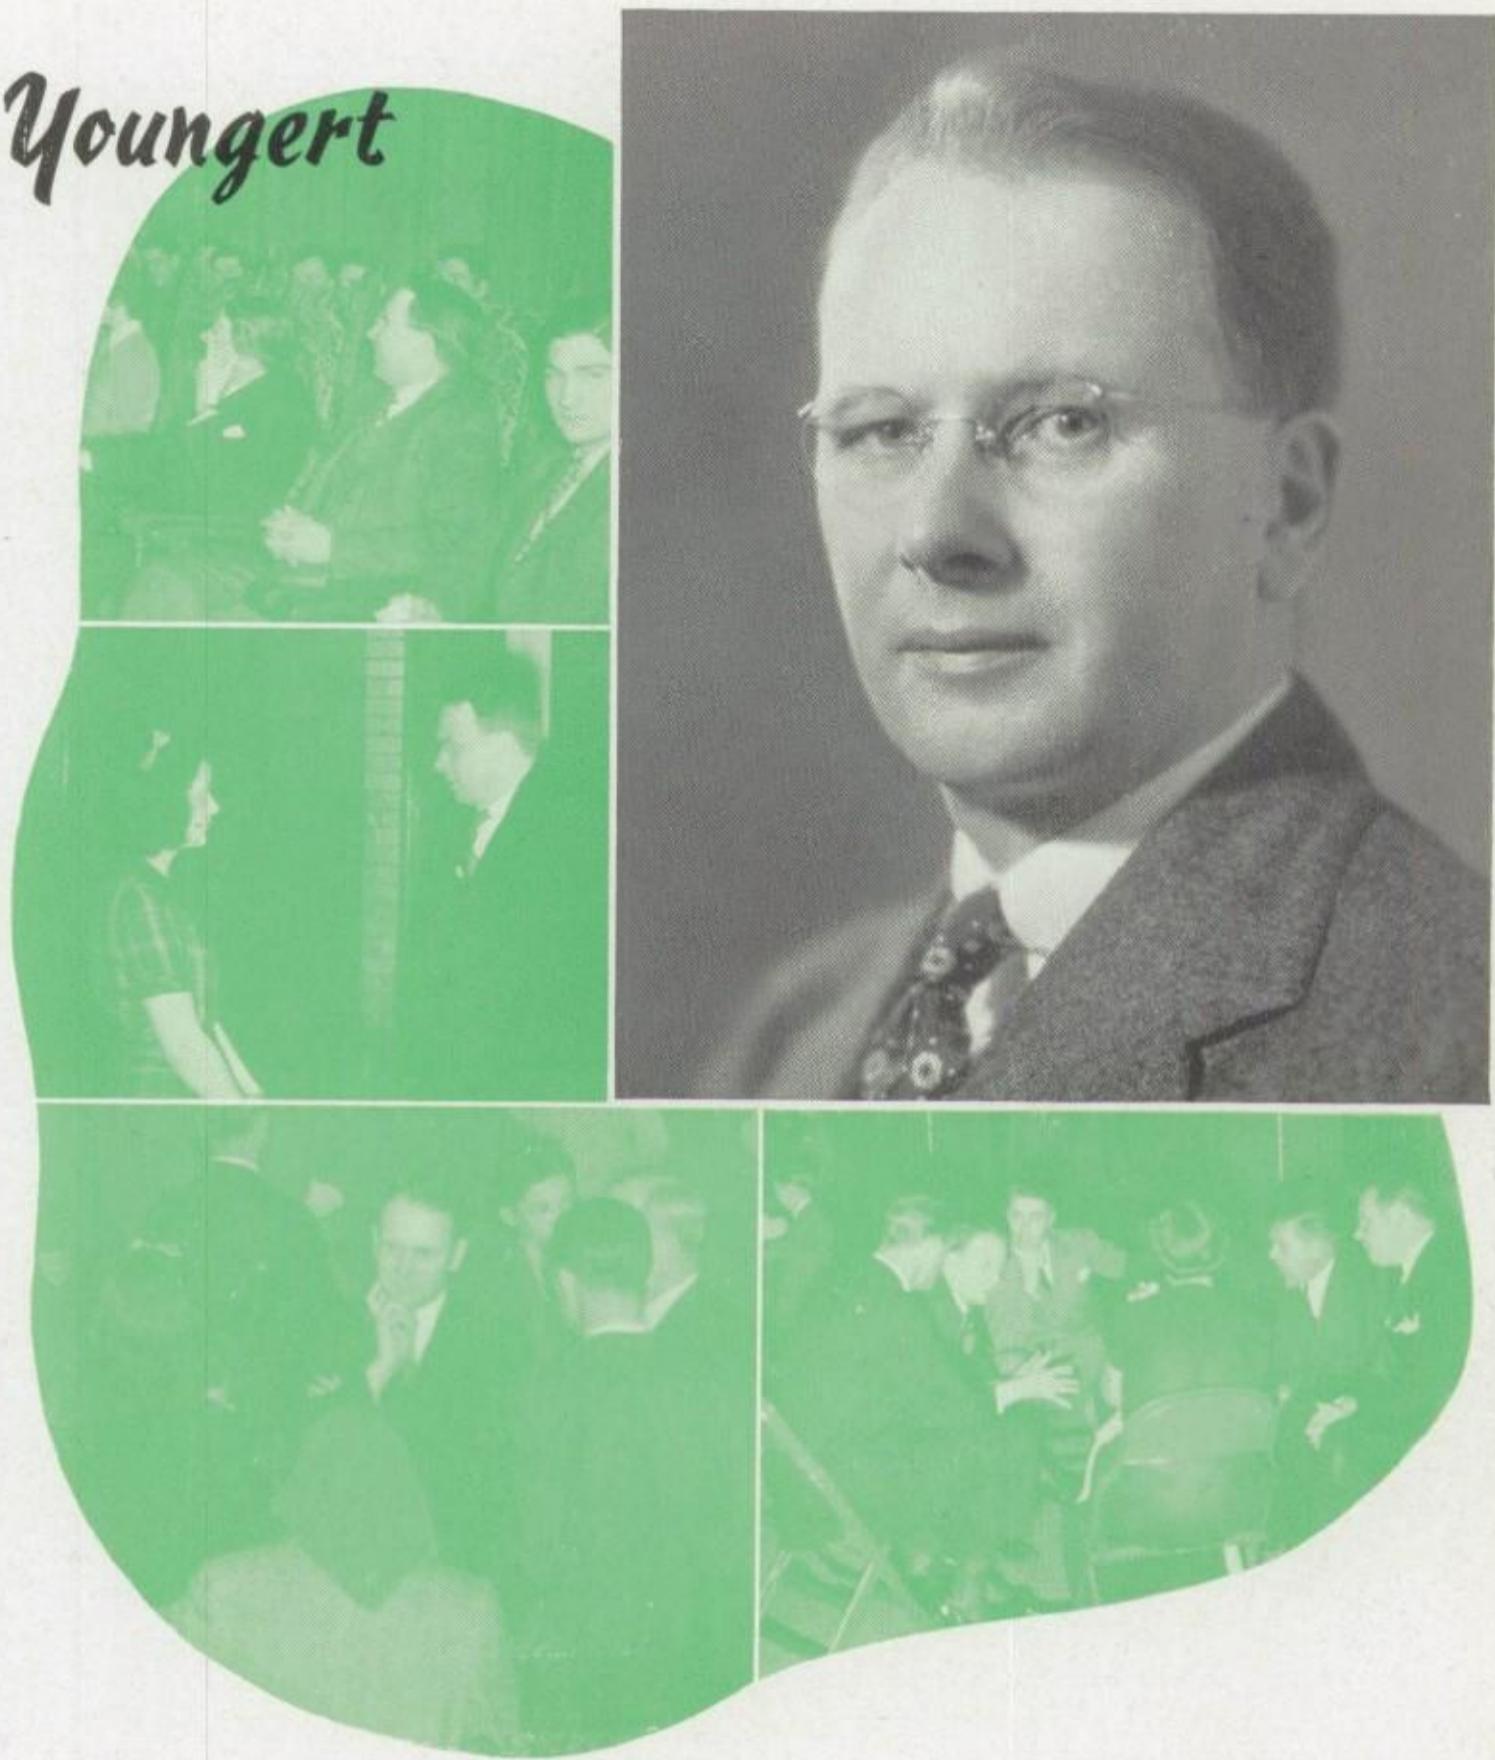

Harold H. Metcalf

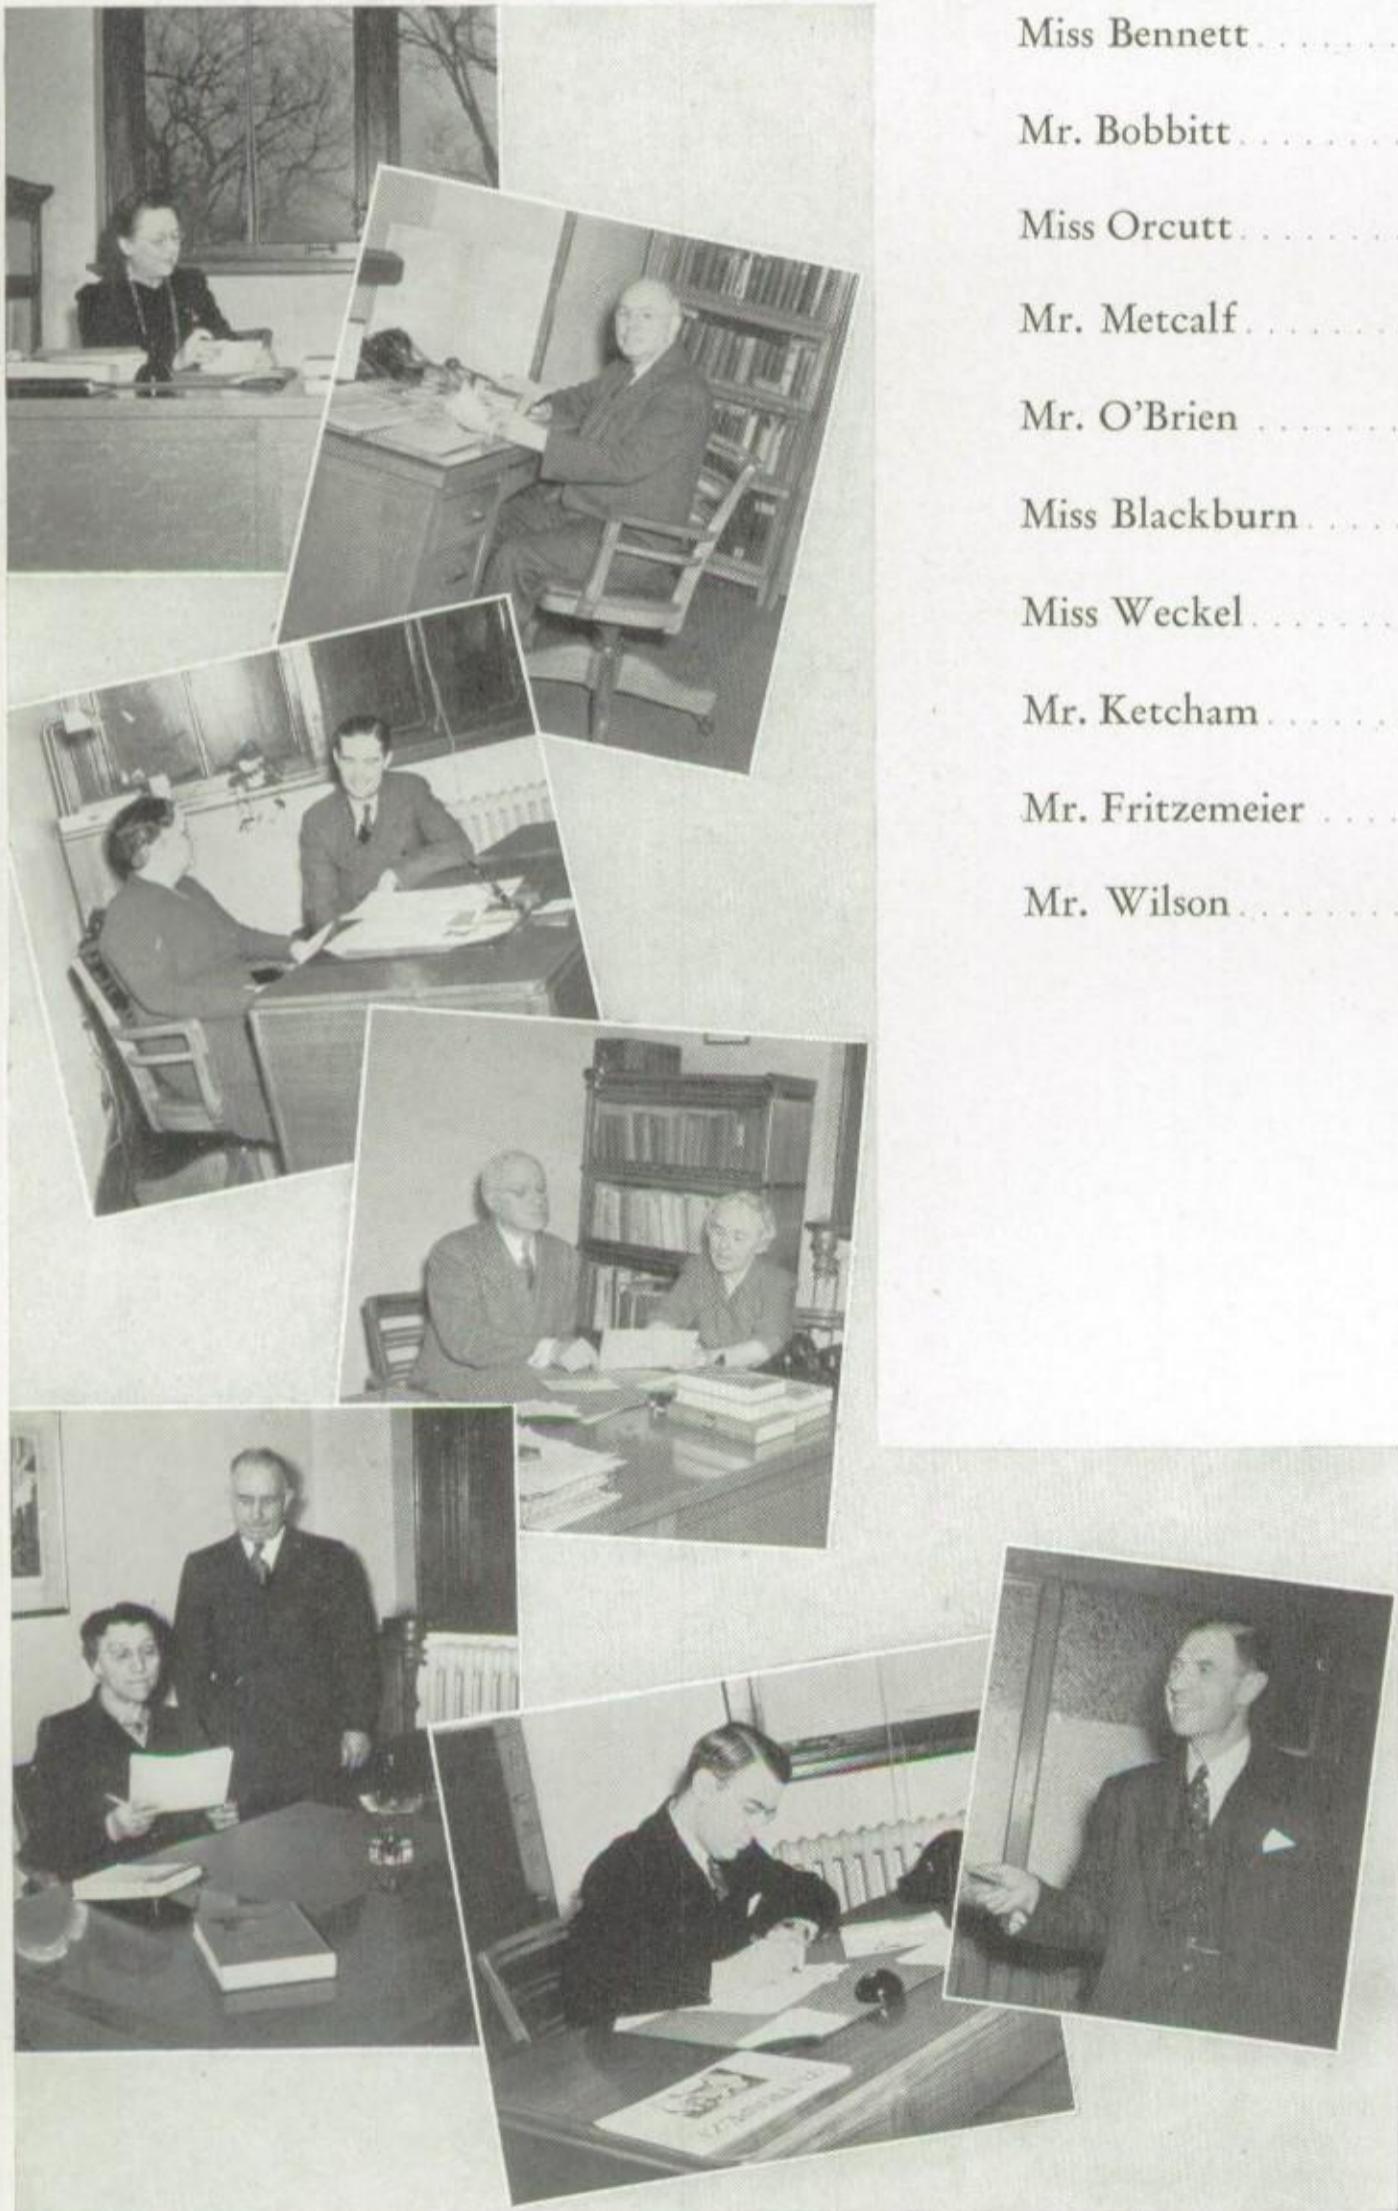

Through these doors last fall for the first time came

our new superintendent, Dr. Eugene Youngert. His keenness as director makes the school run smoothly. His bits of Yankee humor, which he picked up in his years in Vermont, enliven our student assemblies. His friendly smile often greets us in the halls. We have met him in assemblies, club and committee meetings, and parties. His great interest in us and his understanding of our problems has made him a good friend to all of us. We salute you, Dr. Youngert, upon the completion of a very successful year.

Louis L. Ticktin

Mr. Louis L. Ticktin, Business Manager of Oak Park and River Forest High School, died on Friday, November 21, 1941.

For fourteen years Mr. Ticktin efficiently handled the finances of the high school and wrought many improvements in the buildings and grounds. His last big project was changing a little-used auditorium into a modern music department. His engineering skill enabled him to see its possibilities and to solve the difficult problems of its construction.

Though the students seldom saw him except at the athletic contests in which he was particularly interested, it was his careful management that kept our school running so smoothly.

DEANS

From the time that Miss Weckel and Mr. Ketcham introduce the high school to the eighth graders until Miss Bennett and Mr. Bobbitt check their final credits, Oak Park High School students are constantly being instructed and advised by the deans. Not only do these eight men and women plan the curriculum of each class but they also serve as guides and counselors to personal problems.

In full glory reflected

In the minds and memories of all Americans is reflected the glory of deeds that have benefited country and humanity. Today our lives are filled with stories of men and women who are defending our freedom on the far shores of the world and thereby taking their rightful places in the sun. Graduates of Oak Park are already among the immortals.

When these boys, who have suddenly become men, have a moment to think of home, they say their minds return to old haunts, to school. To them, the plain building with the locker-lined halls takes on the glow of the carefree days spent here.

No class can pass through an institution without leaving a mark. At the end of four years of work and play, we seniors hope that in the minds of those we leave behind us, we are reflected in the glory of our contributions to our school.

REFLECTIONS

Another first day—but our last, for never again will we seniors get the thrill of pushing our way among old and new faces, program slips and lost freshmen. . . . That A Period that lasted so long. But wait until you have a test to study for—ah, then those A Periods are short! . . . Oh, yes. New numbering for the lunch periods. It still seems queer to have a tenth-period class.

... The shock of finding out that our class has a hundred fewer students in it than we had last year. Incidentally, there are two hundred less in the school. . . . Everybody and his cousin trying to buy books in the auditorium from the boys on the stage. When, after waiting several hours, (it seemed like that long), I at last had bought my books, my receipt said, "We appreciate your patronage, thank you," and in small letters at the bottom, "We deliver." .... The new pastel decorating and the shiny floors and desks. The voting for class president and cheer-leader. The weather, which has turned so cold that skirts and sweaters literally are taken out of moth balls. The old institution filled with boys in uniform—especially sailors. Many of our friends having freshman sisters and brothers. The first day in the lunchroom with accompanying indigestion from so much hurrying. The halls that now are unoccupied two whole minutes before the bell rings. Transfer slips and new teachers that can't pronounce my name. Sometimes it's mutual. Which reminds me of the freshman who says Mr. Plate instead of Mr. Platt. The gorgeous fans some kids have.

. . . Because of the inspiring talk of Miss Doidge, many of us resolve to lead new lives—(starting ten weeks from Christmas night). The tea is grand—but what is the fascination that those little chocolate mints have for some of us? . . . The beginning of the next week gives us cold weather, and even snow on Wednesday, the day of the Football Dance. On said day, the Atalanta girls, wearing jeans and plaid shirts, invade the boys' field house to do the job of decorating. We have quite a time getting up the dummies of the players. We take Barrows apart and put him together again because his pants keep falling off. Shouts are heard to the effect that Soucek doesn't have a face, and will someone please make one.

When the work is done, we dash home to get dressed for the big event, and then back again, proud of the place, which really looks O.K. It surely seems odd to see our gym teachers, who are usually attired in shorts, all dolled up in formals. The music of Jimmy Dale's band is swell—especially the "Oak Park Flash," Bob Butler, singing "All or Nothing at All," and "Boogie" Berger, playing some hot jive at the piano. We all drink lots of punch obtained from the freshman members of Atalanta. Most of the girls in formals, although a few "go short." . . . Armistice Day finds most of us sleeping away our vacation.

... Oh, Frankie! Friday brings one of the most historical events of the year—Frank Sinatra Day! On said occasion, all so-called fans of that worthy King of Swoon show their adoration by wearing a bow tie. This, of course, brings glances of amazement from teachers and howls of disapproval from most of the fellows. . . . SNOW! Monday brings the first real snow of the year. Naturally none of us can find our boots (or maybe you could) . . . At last the day for our Gavel Mothers' Tea. How great it makes one feel to have her name in "Gavel Gravel" (or "Forum Fun")! Sort of aristocratic or something.

. . . Ah! After the first three days of Thanksgiving week, we really have something to be thankful for. (I guess practically every teacher in the school took advantage of the short time before the end of the grade month to give tests.) After huge turkey dinners, in spite of the fact that "Very few will have turkeys for their Thanksgiving dinners this year," most of us spend the next day sleeping. Some energetic souls work; others go down town. Christmas draws nearer. . . . After a whole day in school, Katie Curtis comes down with the chicken pox, and so spends vacation in bed. . . . Reflections—Concluded

The midyear section of our class graduating—practically all boys, too. . . . Semester exams. . . . Senior girls voting for long white dresses. . . . The tenseness of the scholarship assembly. . . . The Class Play a complete success. But we couldn't help seeing the cast as our friends and classmates. . . . The gym exhibit. . . . Mock elections, and the Annual Staff keeping the results a secret. . . . V-12 tests. . . . Junior Institute. . . . "When—will—it—come?" . . . Grad dances under way. . . . Result of the book drive, a huge mountain of reading material. . . . Commencement speakers chosen, and class day elections. . . . The war-time English paper that blots. . . . The gun exhibit in front of the library. . . . So many kids finally knowing what colleges they're going to. . . . Shirley Simanski in a station wagon pulled by two cows. . . . Bob's enormous birthday cake in Tabula, and the teddy bear Marg gave him. . . . Seniors so busy they can't think straight. . . . A group of girls each day wondering whether Ed Pelikan will wear his brown sweater. . . . A rainy Easter. . . . Eight weeks till graduation.

This is far from being a history of the year's events. These reflections may have brought to your minds incidents that will help you better to remember the year.

THE UNDERCLASSMEN

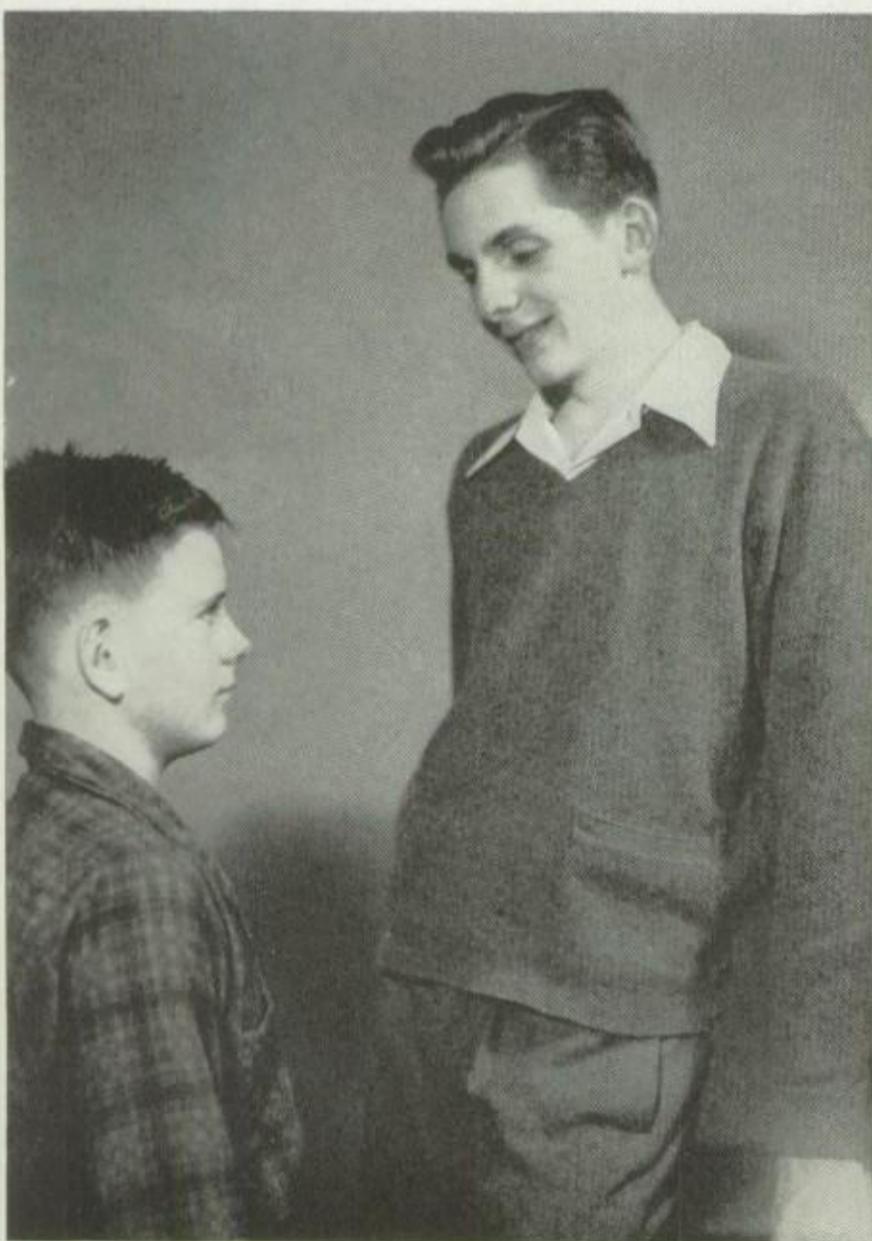

We've been told that many years from now, these Tabulas will make very interesting books to browse through. What memories we will recollect remains to be seen, but our annuals may very well have the fascination of an old photograph album. Thus we have chosen to picture the underclasses, and as you view the following seven pages, remember that it won't be very many years until "that girl in the middle picture," the "boy in back of you in English" and you yourself will have graduated.

The Class of '45 is pictured on the first two pages of the album proper. The nicest thing about being a junior is that you can join the seniors in most activities, knowing that you still have another year of fun in conferences, clubs and athletic events. Junior girls always give a portion of the time spent at hag parties to the discussion of the relative merits of Gavel, Forum, Footlights, etc. The album is preceded by a review of some of the junior activities.

Most sophomores find that they feel very much in the swing of things when they start in the fall. Their ego gets quite a boost when they look at the new students and ask, "Did we look like that?" The major responsibility of the underclassmen is the maintenance of a good scholastic standard. When sophomores become upperclassmen, they realize that if they have made a fine record thus far, they will find it easier to continue to make good grades, and can spend time on some of Oak Park's many extracurricular activities. The Sophomore Class pages follow those of the Junior Class.

"Hi, Freshie!"—the tone of voice is meant to shrivel even the most brave of you. Oak Park High is hardly like the grammar school you attended. For many, it means dropping from a high office in the local Junior Civic League to being a so-called nobody, who is an obscure, but important cog in the machinery of a high school. But it may surprise you to know that even the seniors can't distinguish you as freshmen after the first month or so. Each year, even each month, adds assurance and knowledge for the time when you'll be seniors. And that time isn't so far off now as it might seem. Thus we conclude our underclass photograph album with pictures of freshman activities.

The Junior Class is the only one other than the Senior Class having regular officers and class organization. Following the election of the Junior Council, the class officers were chosen. As always, the main activity of the juniors was the sponsoring of the Junior Prom, to which the seniors were invited. In addition, a party and talent night for the whole Junior Class was held. Following a display of individual abilities in the auditorium, the students had dancing and refreshments in the lunchroom. Also the junior girls were entertained at a tea, planned for them by the girls on the Junior Council. "In full glory reflected" stands the Class of '45!

THE ALBUM OF THE YEAR

Thus be it ever

As the American flag still fluttered bravely in the early morning light, Francis Scott Key cried, "O thus be it ever." Yes, thus be it ever that our flag shall wave over our land, that it shall symbolize our way of life.

Today, as in the yester-year, Americans are fighting to preserve the things that we find good about our life. We students are learning what these good things are. We conclude that participation in activities outside of one's chosen profession is the sign of a full and abundant American life. To listen to concerts and lectures, to share in club work and philanthropies, and thus to practise the part of a good citizen in group activities,—such is the American way.

MUSIC

The performances given by our various music organizations, made possible only by the co-operation and willingness of the students and the able leadership of the faculty directors, are always a tribute to good music.

The program of this year's Christmas concert was varied. We were again privileged to enjoy the selections of the Choir and the Glee Club, and of the massed chorus group. "The Girls' Ensemble," consisting of eight girls dressed in pink and white formals, sang a group of interesting numbers. These girls were selected for especially fine voices. All of these singers led by Miss Doll shared the honors with the concert orchestra under the direction of Miss Armstrong. The orchestral numbers were in the character of a traditional symphony concert, but the "March" from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite" and "The Jolly Sleighride Party" were played to carry out the Christmas idea.

In the early part of this year, under the supervision of Mr. Little, the concert band gave a program of both popular and classical numbers. This group is always remembered for the added zest they give to football and basketball games, outdoor assemblies and the gym exhibit.

To these traditional presentations, something new has been added, the Folk Singers, whose repertoire includes European and American songs. They wear bright, colorful, peasant costumes. These singers gained for themselves a wide reputation and were much in demand for social affairs inside and outside of school.

One of their outstanding performances was given at the Cordon Club.

The final presentations of the music department were a full evening concert by the symphony orchestra; the production, "The Gondoliers," a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta written for nine equal leads; and the two festivals given on May 12 by the band and on May 19 by the orchestra and choruses. The Choir, whose main project was the operetta, was again honored this year by being invited to sing at a vesper service at the University of Chicago.

We are grateful to the music department for its excellent programs and its contribution of pleasant memories.

DRAMA

Our school offers us many opportunities to show our dramatic abilities. Masqueraders, Footlights, and Drama Club, in sophomore, junior and senior years respectively, give us a chance to train for the Senior Class Play. Every year this play is made one of the major projects of the upper classmen. The time and the energy of many students and teachers are given to it. Weeks are spent by various groups and committees in gathering props, in painting scenery, and in taking care of all the fine points of a finished production.

Because of the out-of-school duties necessitated by the times, not so many students as usual were available for casting; therefore this year's presentation was different from preceding ones. A play with only fifteen characters was chosen; there were no mob scenes nor dances nor pageantry. The play was "Tovarich." Many have read this play in French, but saw much more in it when they viewed it on the stage. The selection was timely in that it fitted the sentiment of the nation now. It stressed the truths that human greatness in one inspires a like greatness in others and that fineness of spirit is transferred to everyone who comes in contact with it. Of the acting little needs be said except that the players seemed perfectly cast. The bit as well as the major parts were handled with ease and understanding, and the players were richly and justly rewarded by the enthusiasm of the audience.

Act I
Scene II

Some two hundred and forty-four people worked to make this year's play a success. The committees — costuming, make-up, properties, off-stage, lights, scenery, typing, publicity, ticket, photography and program—labored day in and day out. On the evenings of the actual performances, the ushers worked efficiently and smoothly. The orchestra in keeping with the Russian theme, played "The Triumphal March of the Boyards" and the "Russian Sailor's Dance" from "The Red Poppy."

PUBLICATIONS

Every year well over two hundred Oak Park High students work with some ten faculty advisers and several business firms to produce our high school's three outstanding publications, the Trapeze, the Literary Tabula and the Tabula. Together these students put in literally thousands of hours of work, for they soon find that publications don't simply appear out of thin air.

There is one organization, however, without which none of the three publications could be successful. That group is the Tabula Publishing Board, whose business is business. It is their job to see that the Traps not only are ready Friday morning, but are in the hands of the homeroom agents. Their job, too, is the distribution of the literary magazines and senior annuals. They must collect the money for all three publications and manage the books. In each week's Trapeze, as well as in the Tabula, advertising is to be found. The Publishing Board is responsible for contacting and doing business with the advertisers and for allotting them space in the publications. For many such thankless tasks, the Tabula Publishing Board is responsible.

The Trapeze, our weekly newspaper, is really a NEWspaper. It doesn't miss a thing. Responsible for its success are the very efficient editorial staff, over thirty competent reporters, and the indispensable Mr. Hecketswiler. The Trap offers not only up-to-date reporting in all school activities, but a variety of special features, such as "Trappings", "Trapshooting", the "Spotlight", the "Airline", and an excellent sport page. All the writers are constantly hard-pressed for time by the dead-lines. For proof of that, you need only get past the hall guards some Wednesday or Thursday, sixth or seventh period, and look into Room 211. There you will probably find that the articles have already been written (in the wee hours of the morning), and sent to the printer, that the galley proofs are back and the editors are frantically proof-reading and "pasting the dummy". Then the dummies go to the publisher, and Friday morning you have the finished product.

In the late fall of the year, and again in the spring, the second of our three periodicals, the Literary Tabula, is published. Then, just before school closes, the senior Tabula comes out. Each year both staffs go to work the first week of school and meet each noon thereafter. There is more than enough work to keep them busy.

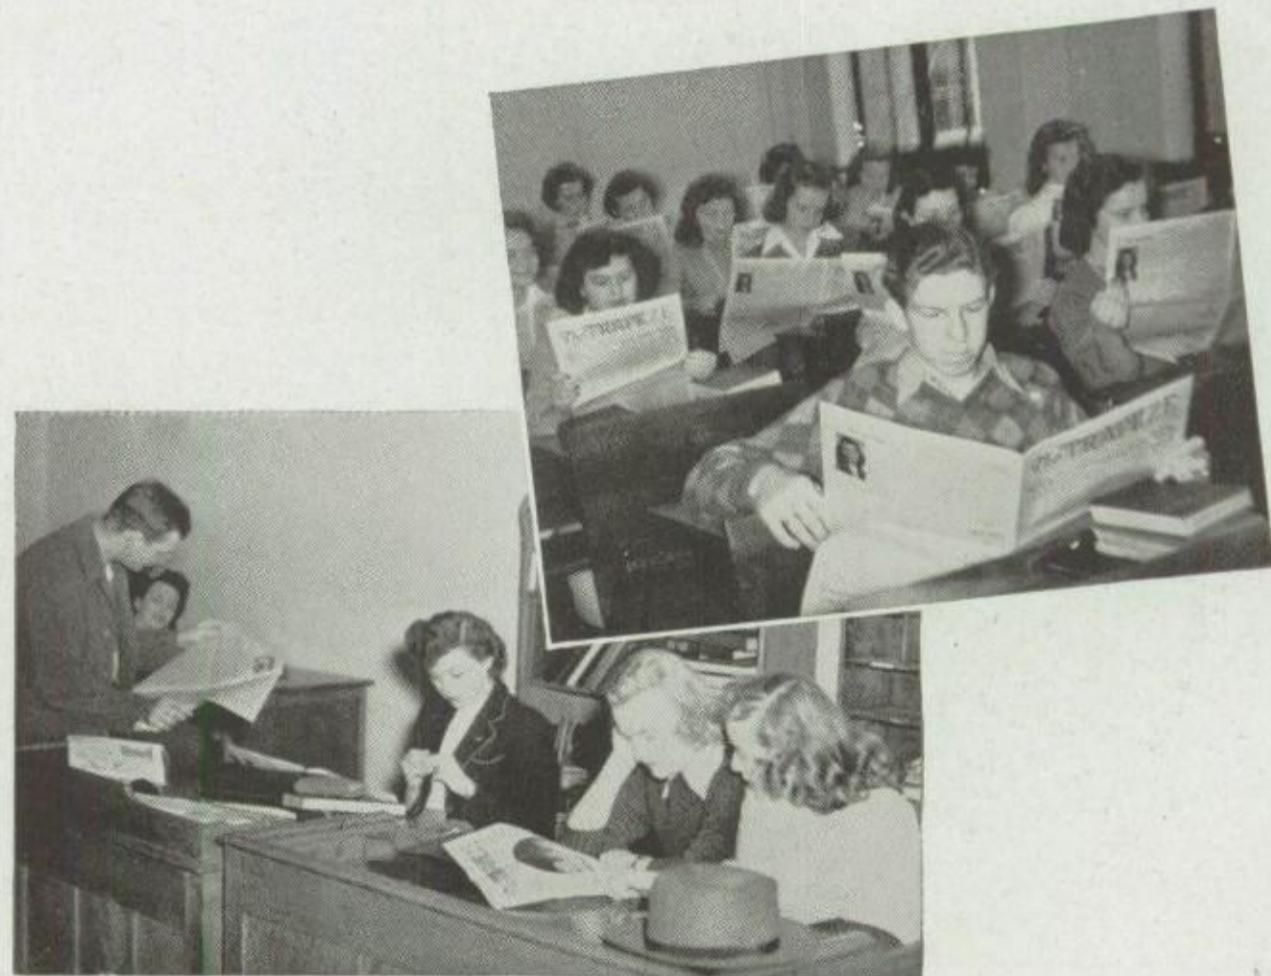

The Literary Tabula staff is headed by Miss Burt and Mr. Hohn, and aided by its fresh-soph staffs, Miss Davis and Miss Hardie advising. Miss Turner directs the senior Tabula staff with the assistance of Miss Smith on copy, Mr. Hoff on the senior portraits. In spring the junior staff is chosen to help with detail work. For the staff of each book, planning must begin at the opening of school. Each staff must first determine the theme, or general nature of its book, and lay out a plan. Then responsibilities are divided and individuals go to work. The work of the Literary Tabula staff consists of first squeezing the material out of the student body, and then endlessly going over it, choosing the best, checking and rechecking the contributions. Before its book is finished, the Literary Tabula staff, too, reads the galley proofs and pastes dummies. The senior Tabula staff makes accurate page plans, continually schedules pictures with the photo staff, confers with its art staff, cuts senior portraits, sends pictures and art work to the engraver and copy to the printers.

Another staff which serves more than one of our publications is the photo staff. All year, this comparatively small group of boys, under the supervision of Mr. Lane, makes pictures for the Trap and the Tabula. This year, for the Tabula alone, the photo staff has furnished about 400 pictures. Behind each of these prints lies a great deal of work, for each one involves planning, scheduling, "shooting," developing, and printing. All of these phases are handled efficiently and skillfully by our photo staff. This year, because of wartime conditions, the Tabula must go to press nearly a month earlier than usual; even under that pressure the photo staff has succeeded in having every picture ready by the end of March.

All the art work to be seen in both the Tabula and the Literary Tabula is done by students. For the senior annual a few selected artists, three this year, are individually commissioned to prepare material for the book. These students make their drawings or paintings outside of school and entirely apart from art classes. Quite differently, the editors of the Literary Tabula assign the Art Department certain types of work, of specific dimensions and qualifications. The work which is used is then chosen from the products of entire classes.

TRAP AGENTS

Yes, oh thus be it ever, but not oh thus be Les ever! As the ignorant interpreter in "French without a Master," Les Gilmore panicked his drama club audience. The critics raved to such an extent that France-America requested a repeat performance for them. In our senior drama club the emphasis is perhaps on phases other than actual acting, for the club activities of the second semester center around the staging of the senior play. Drama club members know whose attics are storehouses for props and costumes, whose families can be persuaded to lend the family heirlooms, and what second-hand shops offer the best bargains.

Action is a fit word for Footlights. The members really work to set up an unusual program. Those chosen in try-outs go to work at once to learn more of the techniques of acting. At Christmastime they present a play with a serious theme to the club and to their fellow juniors in an assembly. This year it was a morality play, "Fiat Lux."

Masqueraders is the students' first chance to work with plays, unless they have had experience elsewhere. They discover how much acting ambition they have, whether they wish to join Footlights next, whether they are interested in staging and in trying for the school stage and light crews, and how much fun it is to learn the art of make-up. Some of the Pastime Players, who before the war entertained many people in the village with the plays they gave during the summer, started out as sophomores in Masqueraders. One of these, George Schafer, now in the army, is working with Maurice Evans in the entertainment of soldiers stationed in Hawaii, and recently directed Mr. Evans and Judith Evans in "Macbeth."

Drama in its cruder forms—as shown here—is found in the stunts that end the meetings of Lincoln and Burke, Forum and Gavel, and Townmeeting. This entertainment is incidental to the true purpose of the clubs, which is debating. Burke and Lincoln are known for their excellent parliamentary drill and for special projects which take a long period of preparation and are eventually presented to the school. These future lawyers and executives, however, yield the floor to the girls of Gavel and Forum in annual joint sessions. When the girls are not holding joint meetings with the boys or with each other, they learn in their own clubs to say, "I move that . . .", not "I make a motion", or "Madam President, I demand a standing vote." Gavel and Forum have done so well in teaching their members how to win arguments in the most direct way and how to conduct women's club meetings that a third girls' debating club came into being this fall. To emphasize the more informal nature of their club the senior girls who were the charter members took the name Townmeeting from a club of a different character now out of existence.

Symposium is a new name that will go down from this year on in our club history. The club is really new in name only, for the members thought Symposium a fitting title to give to the Extemporaneous Speaking group. This group differs from the above five clubs in two respects: the club is an open forum which meets every Friday, and is the only debating club which has a membership made up of both boys and girls. The Symps, as they are often called, discuss vigorously the various local or national problems which are of interest to them.

A Chicago businessman became a big game hunter for an afternoon to give an illustrated talk to the boys in Sportsmen's Club on the thrills and dangers involved in hunting moose and bear in Canada. The boys are not able to fire a gun and shoot down a bear; they content themselves now with smaller game. At their meetings the Sportsmen talk of the preparation for a camping trip, the kind of bait for the varieties of fish, and the ways of preserving wild life. They put their ideas into practice twice a year on outing trips.

Radio Club is a club for those boys interested in radio not only for its purely entertaining value, but for the technical knowledge they gain. Short-wave, fluorescence, and voltage were subjects of three club meetings. Some of these boys may serve our government as radio experts.

Some of our finest creative work is done in the Camera Clubs. In normal times, when flash bulbs are not covered with priorities, exhibitions are held in the front hall. Both Boys' and Girls' Camera Clubs learn how to take, develop, and print their own pictures. Many of the boys contribute time, patience, and pictures to the Tabula; without their wonderful work our book would be only an idea, a skeleton without the body.

If President Roosevelt were a boy at Oak Park High, he would find a Stamp Club interested in his great stamp collection. The boys meet to talk about the history and value of stamps, and to trade among themselves. The programs are sometimes built around the stamps of one country. At other meetings the boys hold miscellaneous auctions and add new stamps to their albums.

The undertakings of Girls' Club each year are many and varied, but perhaps its most important job is to make every girl feel that she is a part of the school and, therefore, should be at home here. From September until June the Club entertained in turn the incoming freshmen, the sophomores, juniors, and the new students. The seniors had several parties where they discussed college plans with other seniors or with girls home from college. The service activities of Girls' Club are recorded elsewhere.

Those students whose secret ambition is to be another Lily Pons or Lawrence Tibbett are given opportunities to display their talent in Music Club—opportunities which they probably would not get in the daily chorus classes. Music Club includes instrumentalists as well as vocalists. In addition to these, there is a third group composed of students who have no solo talent, but have an appreciation of music and care to hear the performances of well-known guest artists or of the students themselves, or even a program of recorded music.

Girls who like to get together informally now and then to paint or sketch join our Art Club. Each member is expected to contribute to the meetings and to take something from them. The girls in the club, conscious of the war, spent the first part of the year making joke books for the servicemen, pasting jokes and pictures in them, and illustrating the books with original drawings. When that project was completed, the girls began sketching possible scenes for a mural that may be used to decorate one of our art rooms.

Arts and Crafts is a club whose members are both artistic and practical. They make pins to wear on sweaters, string necklaces, design stationery, and work on other craft projects. At Christmas the girls devote at least one meeting to the making of dolls or toys for some settlement in Chicago. The girls in the club gain constructive practice and have fun making these gifts so greatly appreciated by the little children.

Ten years from now people all over the country may be reading a best seller by Lois Valentine or following eagerly a daily column signed by Harriet Carrithers. Who knows what genuine interest and writing ability is given a directive in Story Club! The membership in this club is small, being limited to girls that enjoy writing and have the talent for it. They are more than willing to write a poem, short play, character sketch, or story for each meeting and to receive the constructive criticism of the other members.

La séance est ouverte! Se abre la sesion! France-America and Pan-American were first called to order two years ago. Since that time, their popularity has increased and their membership has grown. In an early meeting this year the members of France-America heard Claude and John Rie tell of their escape from France and their experiences in this country. Madame Bluzat gave a timely talk on important French leaders in the War. Parts of the meetings are conducted in French, so the members are largely boys and girls who have a speaking acquaintance with the language. In a similar way Pan-American Club is made up of students who are taking Spanish or Latin-American History, students who are interested in the future of Spanish culture in the Western world. The meetings are in English unless the club has as its guest a man from Spain or a student from Central America who is just learning English. The breaking of the pinata at Christmas-time and the Mexican fiesta in the spring are two of the big events in Pan-American Club.

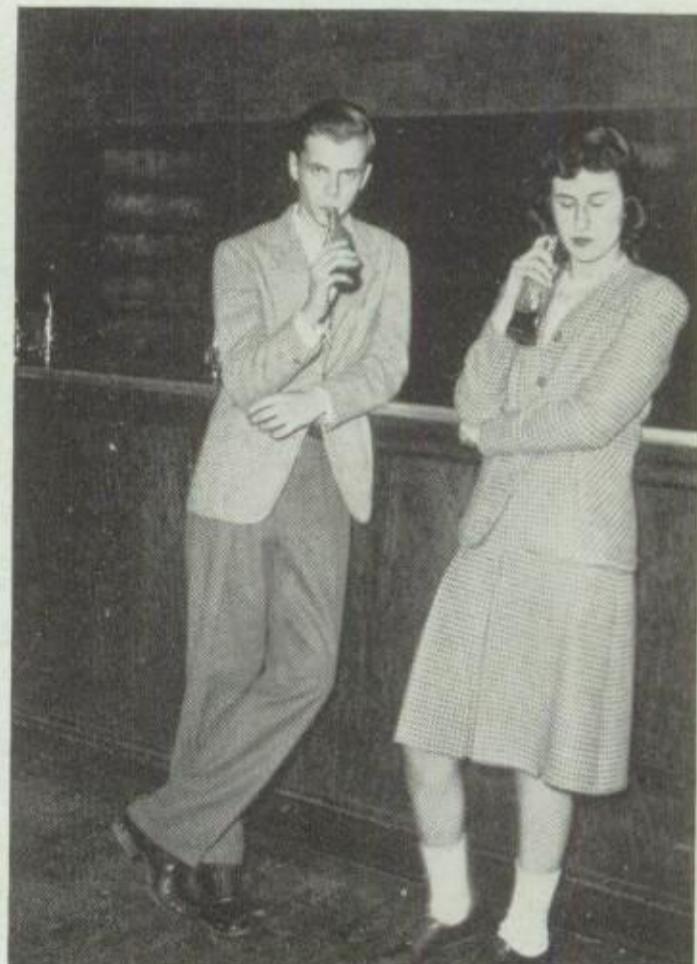

At O.P.R.F. Latin also is heard outside of the classroom. The third and fourth year Latin students gave proof of their interest by attending a Latin banquet complete with Roman dress, Roman food, and Roman amusements. There are two Latin clubs which students of that language may join, Latin Club and Forum Romanum, which is on the club roster for the first time this year. In both these organizations the students elect boys and girls to offices which correspond to those which men might have held back in the days of Julius Caesar. Latin plays and games and songs provide much of the entertainment. The classical room that was redecorated this year lends natural atmosphere to the club meetings.

An egg frying in air! A match burning in liquid! Impossible? Not in Chemistry Club,—and with liquid air. This experiment and talks on processed foods and plastics were subjects of three meetings this year. The girls and boys who join this club are above average in their chemistry class and are interested in devoting extra time to experiments and reports which cannot be given in a year's course.

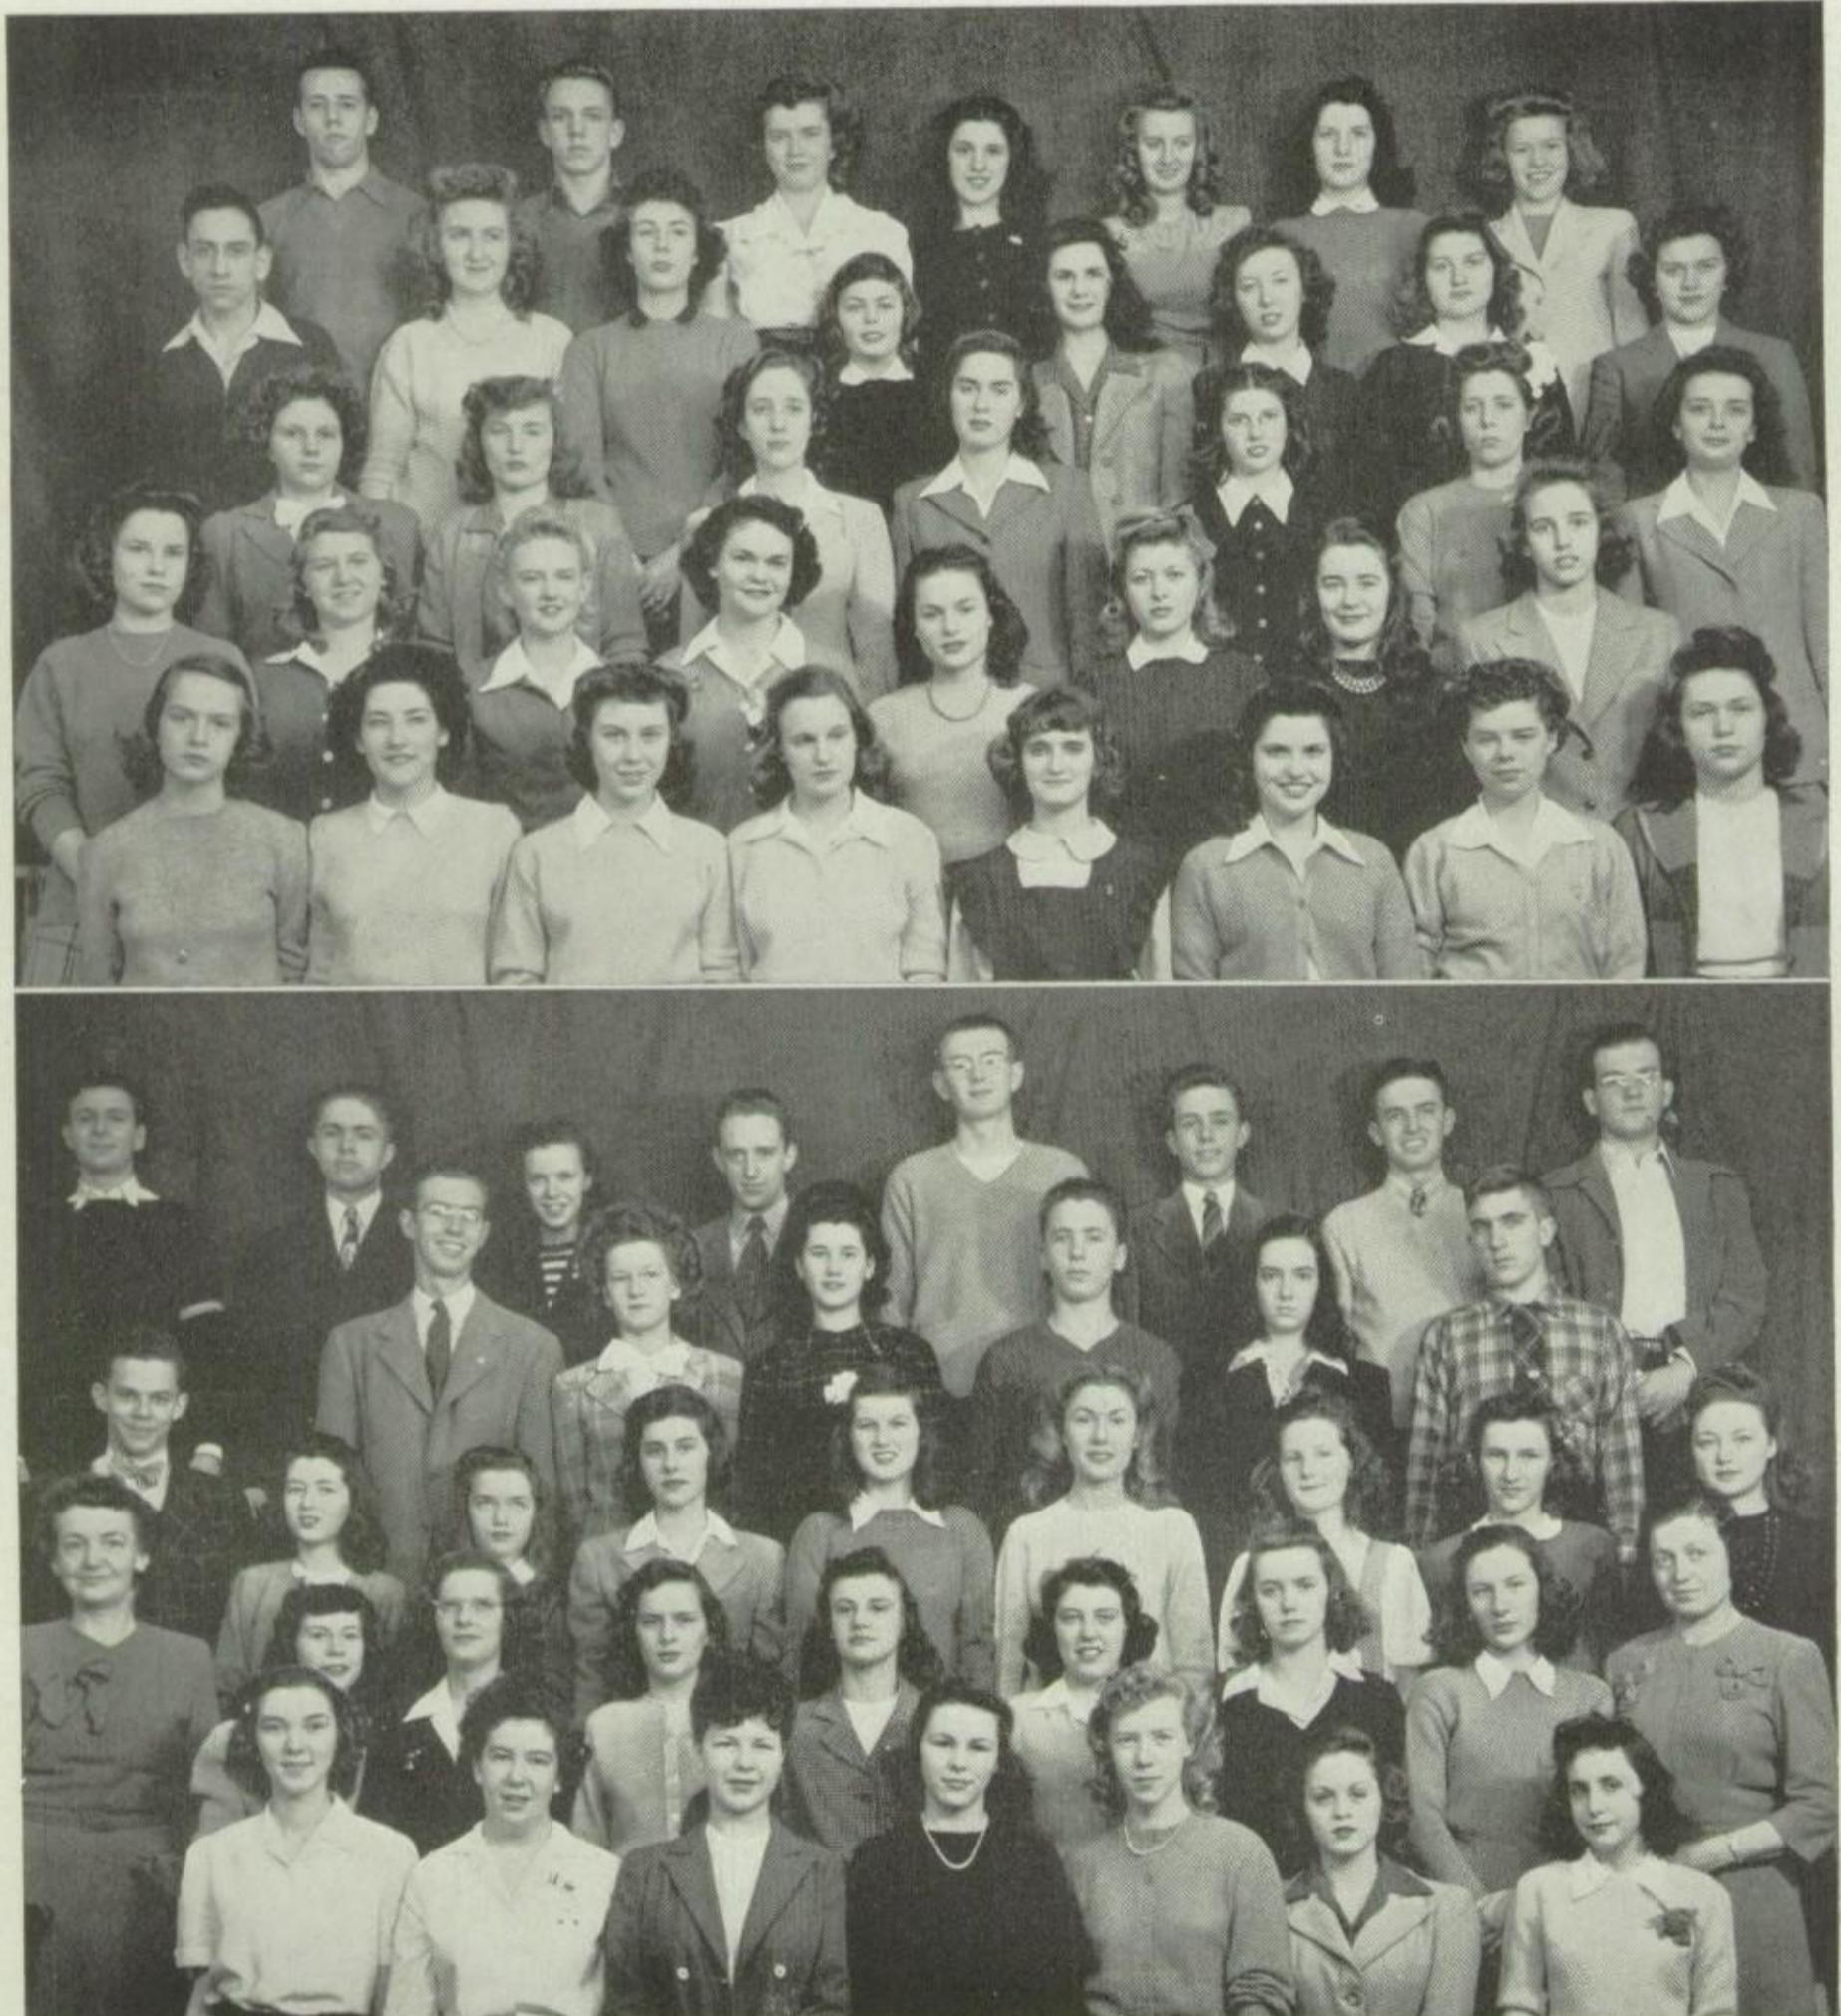

Science Club is the first club freshmen may join on entering high school. The demonstrations made at the various meetings supplement the information in the General Science course, and are often in a lighter vein. The preparation of lipstick and other cosmetics is an annual event. This year the club's faculty adviser constructed a reaction machine by which the various members could find out how quickly or slowly they reacted to the honking of a horn or the ringing of the bell at 3:20.

To one-third of twelve, add four-fifths of seven. The result is eleven, if you solve it the way the Newtonites do. Before each club meeting the members are given a story problem to work. Do you remember the stickler about the two Arabs with five loaves of bread—? They had that solved when the meeting began. Newton Club proves that mathematics isn't all homework and headaches.

Our clubs play too large a part in the school life of the average student to be labelled "Non-essential in wartime." Information is presented which is entirely apart from anything taught in school. Students learn how to work in organizations under student leaders. And, perhaps most important, through the training in organization, management, and participation comes the development of personality, appreciated even more as the students go on in life. They find they are better ready to become fighting citizens in wartime, voting citizens in peace.

COUNCILS

Our school is very proud of the councils that govern the student body. To be a member of a council is a privilege and an honor. All Student Council members are chosen by their classmates; eight freshmen, eight sophomores, ten juniors, twelve seniors. The members are selected for their ability to lead and for their recognition of a democratic spirit in the school.

The Student Council members handle problems concerning the students and solve them for the good of the majority. Under the direction of Mr. Youngert and Miss Horner, the council has worked on the ever-present problem of conduct in the lunchroom and in the halls during the lunch hours. The idea of a committee stationed in the main hall to give information has again been tried out.

The Safety Council, under Mr. Seymour, has an equally important job controlling the traffic in and about the school, and firmly dealing with those who break the rules. The rules about driving to school and entering the building during the noon hours are rigidly enforced. Many students ride their bicycles to school; a special committee enforces the regulations for them.

The other council is the Smoking Council made up of eleven junior and senior boys. The council sees that the rules of smoking are observed and metes out punishment to those who are brought before it.

As Girls' Club is the largest club in the school and as it reaches out to every girl, it needs an active council to direct its work. Members of the council are elected by the senior girls. There are three groups, each serving for one third of the school year. Thus sixty senior girls are given a chance to participate in the running of the club. With the officers of the club and the adviser, Miss Bennett, the councils plan the parties to be given, collect the cake and cookie money, organize Tag Day and see to the filling of the Christmas stockings. You may be sure the council is efficient in planning both the social service and the purely recreational activities of the club.

Projection Staff, Lights and Stage Crews are among the hardest working, most efficient, and least publicized groups of our school. The two pages following picture these boys and other service groups given due credit elsewhere in the book.

CONFERENCES

Boys' and Girls' Conferences are a tradition. This November Girls' Conference had as its theme "A Time for Greatness" and Boys' Conference, the topic, "Youth and the Future."

For Girls' Conference a key girl and an alternate are elected from each church and from the girls' clubs at school. These girls meet with the executive committee and the advisers during the two months preceding conference. The program consists of a keynote talk, parleys on pertinent subjects (for example, as pictured, Joyce O'Brien conducted the parley on education), a banquet with speeches and skit, and last a candlelight service and tea.

Boys' Conference, planned by an efficient executive committee, begins with a banquet (as illustrated) and a speech. The following days include an address (Captain Fitzpatrick was snapped at the beginning of his talk), a worship service, and election of officers.

Junior Institute is a council on international affairs. It is composed of two sessions: one Friday night taken up by a dinner and speech, and the other Saturday morning by speeches and a question period. China was the subject for discussion at the March meeting. The topics were "Understanding China," "China through a Geographical Keyhole," and "Unchanging China Changes."

Conquer we must

All through the history of our great nation, Americans have shown that they possess the will to win. In times of physical conflict, this quality can be easily noted. Our national anthem would probably never have been composed had not our soldiers possessed the fighting spirit, for then Francis Scott Key could not have written "Our flag was still there." Each of our major wars has been won because American people have shown the will to win.

Our interpretation of conquest is—winning in a democratic way. Our young people learn the spirit of democracy on the athletic field. "Then conquer we must" is meaningless if we do not realize that it takes eleven men to make a winning touchdown. Our players know, then, that winning, in itself, is unimportant unless the victory is based upon democratic play, sportsmanship, co-operation,—the principles for which they will later give their lives, if necessary.

MAJOR SPORTS

As this book goes to press and we check back on the achievements of our athletic teams, we can "point with pride" to their fine record.

Coaches Glen Holmes and Bob Woodruff led the varsity football team through another successful season. The varsity eleven won seven out of eight games, losing only to Proviso. This record won for them the Suburban League championship, which is getting to be a permanent fixture around here. One of the big events of the season was the trip to East Rockford, where our team won by a score of 20-6. The outstanding players of the season were Barrow, Foss, Salek, and Soucek.

Our soccer team, under the capable leadership of Coach Wood, tied Lane Tech for the state championship. This is the second year in a row that the Woodmen have won this coveted position. Also, they won the Suburban League title when they defeated their arch rival, Morton. Four members of the team won all-state recognition: George Schoenfeld, Jack Watson, Bill Cady, and Bob Metcalf.

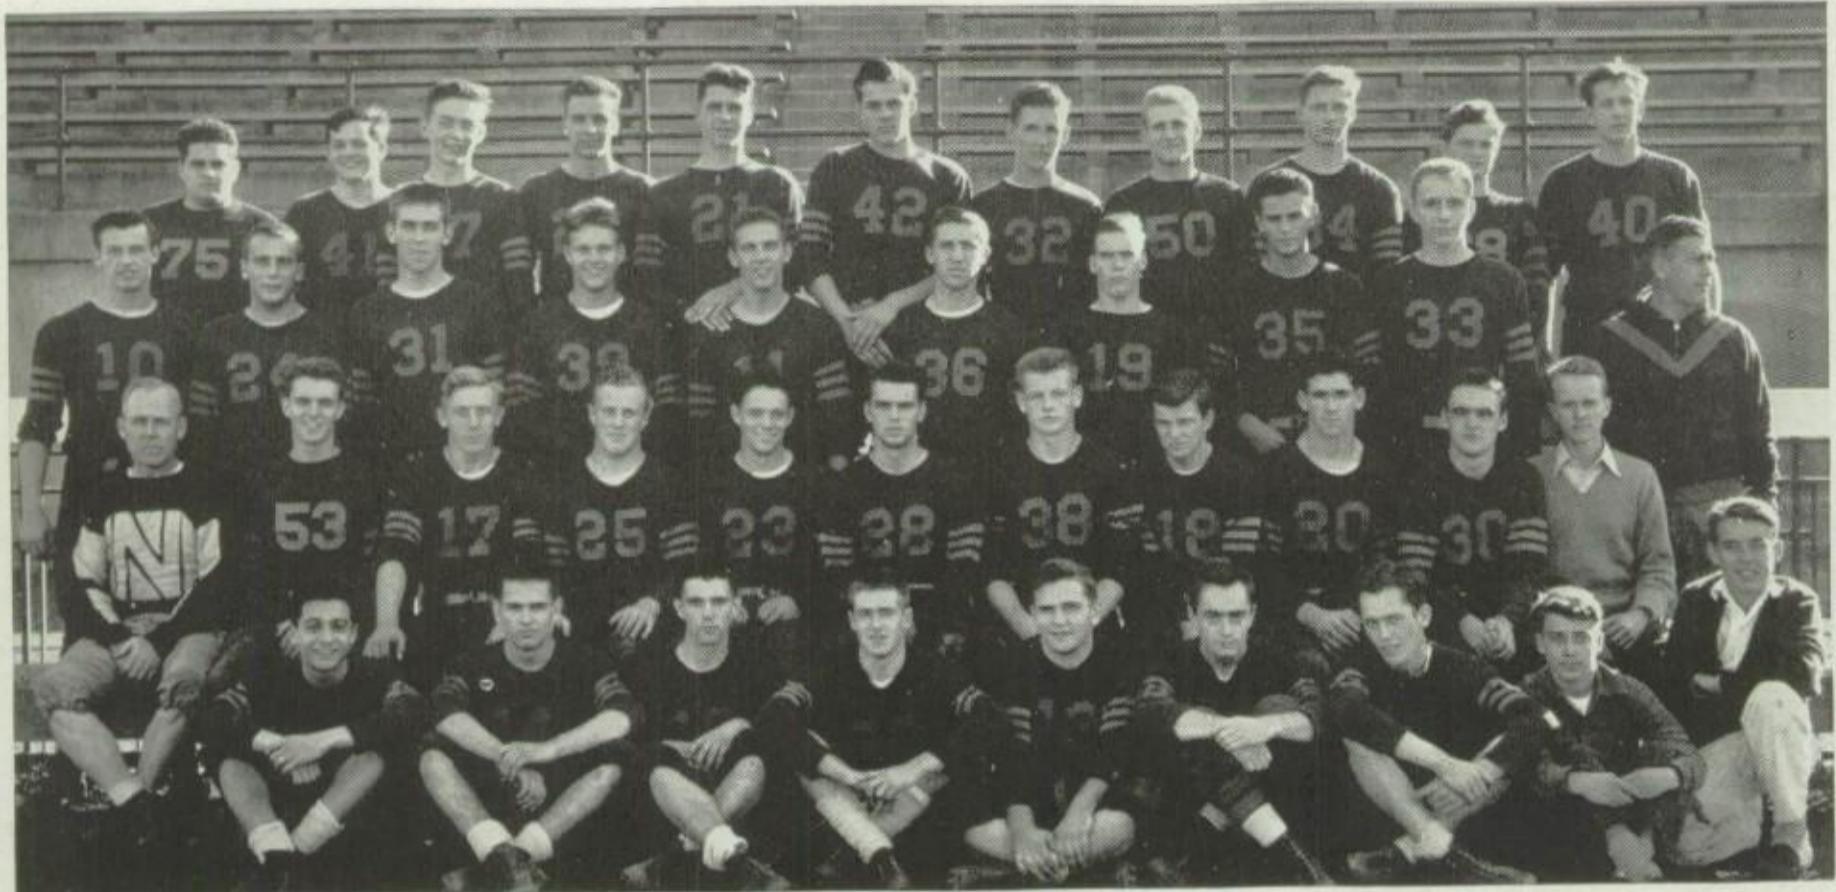

Although our basketball team did not win any title, they did put up a good fight. After the regular season, Mr. Scott entered the team in the state tournament, where we advanced to the second round. Carl Stoltzner, Don Soucek and Frank Wilkie received all-suburban honors.

The track team has not yet started its outdoor season, but it has enjoyed a very successful indoor one. Coach Don Harshbarger's boys finished second in the Suburban League meet, and in the Oak Park Relays, but won all the rest of their encounters by large scores. The biggest thrill of the indoor season came when Ed Ulvestad pole-vaulted 12' 9" to set a new record for the relays.

The swimming team took second place in the Suburban League meet, and finished third in the state meet. During the regular season Coach Smith's men were engaged in nine encounters, from seven of which they emerged victorious.

The baseball team has not yet officially started. Coach Frank Foster announces a very ambitious schedule with ten league games and four games with the strong Peoria Central team. With only six lettermen returning from last year, the starting line-up is still undecided, but every position appears to be well fortified.

The outlook for Mr. Noth's tennis team seems bright, as several lettermen, led by Captain Dick Randall, are reporting this year.

MINOR SPORTS

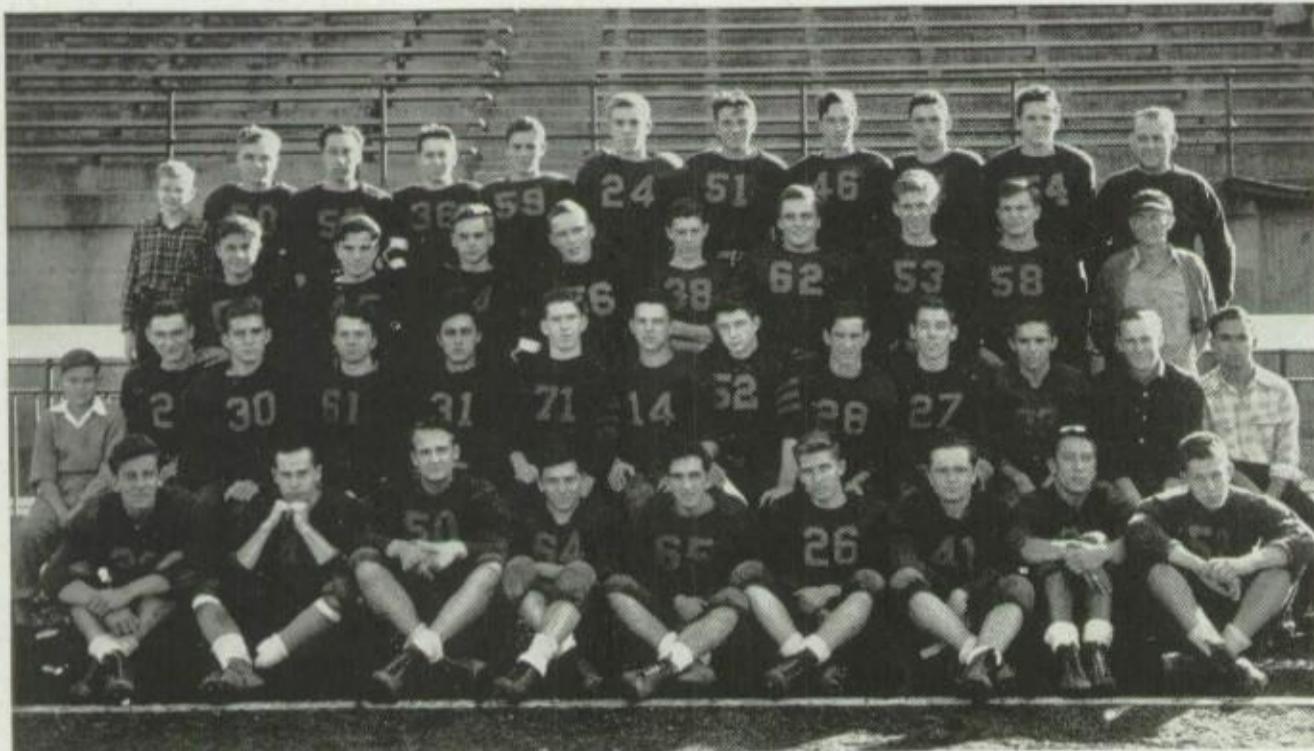

In addition to the varsity teams, we have in this school secondary teams. We have used the classification of minor sports, but it is through these teams that talent for the varsity groups is discovered and trained. It is because of these squads that many boys are given the opportunity of playing in organized sports.

In football, the junior varsity carried on the j. v. tradition by winning all of their league games and by piling up 110 points to their opponents' 50 points. The sophomores too had an extremely successful season. In winning the final game from Proviso by the close score of 13-12, they took undisputed possession of the Suburban League title. The freshman team was undefeated, running up a total score of 75 points to 12 points for their opponents. This record should give them an unofficial championship, since there is no Suburban League for freshmen.

In basketball, a determined and fiery group of boys made up this year's junior varsity team. They were victorious in five out of eight games, losing to no team which they had not also defeated. The sophomore team played fifteen games and won eight. In league play, they had a record of six wins and four losses. The freshmen won one and lost seven games, several of which were closely contested.

The fresh-soph track team won all the meets by large scores. The chief victories were the winning of the Suburban League meet and of the Oak Park Relays. The fresh-soph swimming team finished fifth in the Suburban League meet. The fresh-soph baseball squad is made up chiefly of inexperienced boys. As yet, no definite team has been selected, but nine games have been scheduled. It's too early to make any prediction about the tennis team, except to say that several experienced players are trying out, and that there are already evidences of the conquer-we-must spirit.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

From the first day of school, when freshman girls find their way through the tunnel to the new gym, to the last week of the senior year, there is one course which all girls take. In accordance with the government's program of physical fitness, physical education is a required subject for all our students.

In addition to the better health and strengthened bodies we possess as a result of "gym every day," we have come to look upon it as a time for relaxation and getting acquainted. There is no activity, either in school or out, which affords a better chance for girls to meet girls of other classes. Yes, it's true we hurry to get to our next period classes; our hair does get wet in swimming, in spite of the three scarves and two caps we wear; the water in the showers is often icy cold; and we have to drag our suits home every week-end for laundering. But, in spite of all we say, most girls enjoy the opportunity for a little relaxation and rest from study during the day.

Another thing we like about gym is the chance to get better acquainted with our teachers. In most courses, the relationship between students and their instructors is apt to be formal or stiff. In gym, our teachers perform the same feats as we do, and by playing together we understand each other better.

Throughout the year, both the after-school groups and the regular gym classes participate in a program varied and healthful.

President Alice Thomson

ATALANTA

The club that sponsors the Football Dance—might be the way the majority of students regard Atalanta. Important as this is, it is only one activity of the girls' athletic club. Atalanta is Oak Park High's member of the statewide Girls' Athletic Association, and Atalanta's members, when they have earned the required number of points, are entitled to the state emblems. As most girls can tell you, these are earned by such activities as participation in after-school sports, getting A's in gym, passing tests, and doctors' certificates.

Of course, the big Football Dance was the major activity of the first semester. During the second semester, each of the meetings was planned by a different class. At the senior meeting, the members enjoyed an all-star volleyball game, complete with cheer-leaders, a band, and refreshment venders. The club again continued its annual sale of Easter Seals, and closed the year with a banquet for all its members.

Val Dez, Peare. SECOND ROW—Winner,
Sands, Thomson, Headley, Bell, Blood.

Atalanta is sometimes formal (above) and sometimes informal (below).

Our girls, wearing shin guards, sweatshirts, and pinnies, play a hard and strenuous game of hockey in the fall. They learn the value of teamwork as they run down the field in a line toward the goal of the opposing team. Since field hockey is a sport stressed by many colleges, our girls are fortunate to have an opportunity to learn its fundamentals while in high school.

ARCHERY

This year, volleyball received a volume of interest hitherto unknown, as girls came even on Saturday morning to practice. This interest might be accounted for by the fact that class rivalry was especially keen, although the sophomores led the parade in victories. Actually sorry when the season came to a close, the participants of the sport responded eagerly to the chance for an all-star game. This, after much practice, was eventually played for the members of Atlanta.

Time out?

BADMINTON

Badminton has become an intramural sport with an ardent following of girls. It is not merely a substitute for tennis. With rules, techniques, and equipment of its own, the game is so relaxing that some of the physical education teachers themselves play it during their lunch period.

SWIMMING

With a few exceptions, every girl in our school has swimming for at least nine weeks each year. Classes vary to meet the needs of the pupils, and in this way all girls can learn much. In the early fall, beginners are instructed in the fundamental strokes; later follow classes for advanced swimmers and lifesavers. This year our swimmers enjoyed "open plunges," synchronized swimming, diving, and lifesaving. They also participated in the State Telegraphic Swimming Meet.

DANCE

This was the first year in the history of dance at Oak Park in which rhythm classes put on a demonstration of their own. Participants in the various numbers on the program wore costumes of the nations they represented, or, in the case of modern dance, red and blue leotards. Dance was again demonstrated as part of the regular annual exhibit, where it played an important role.

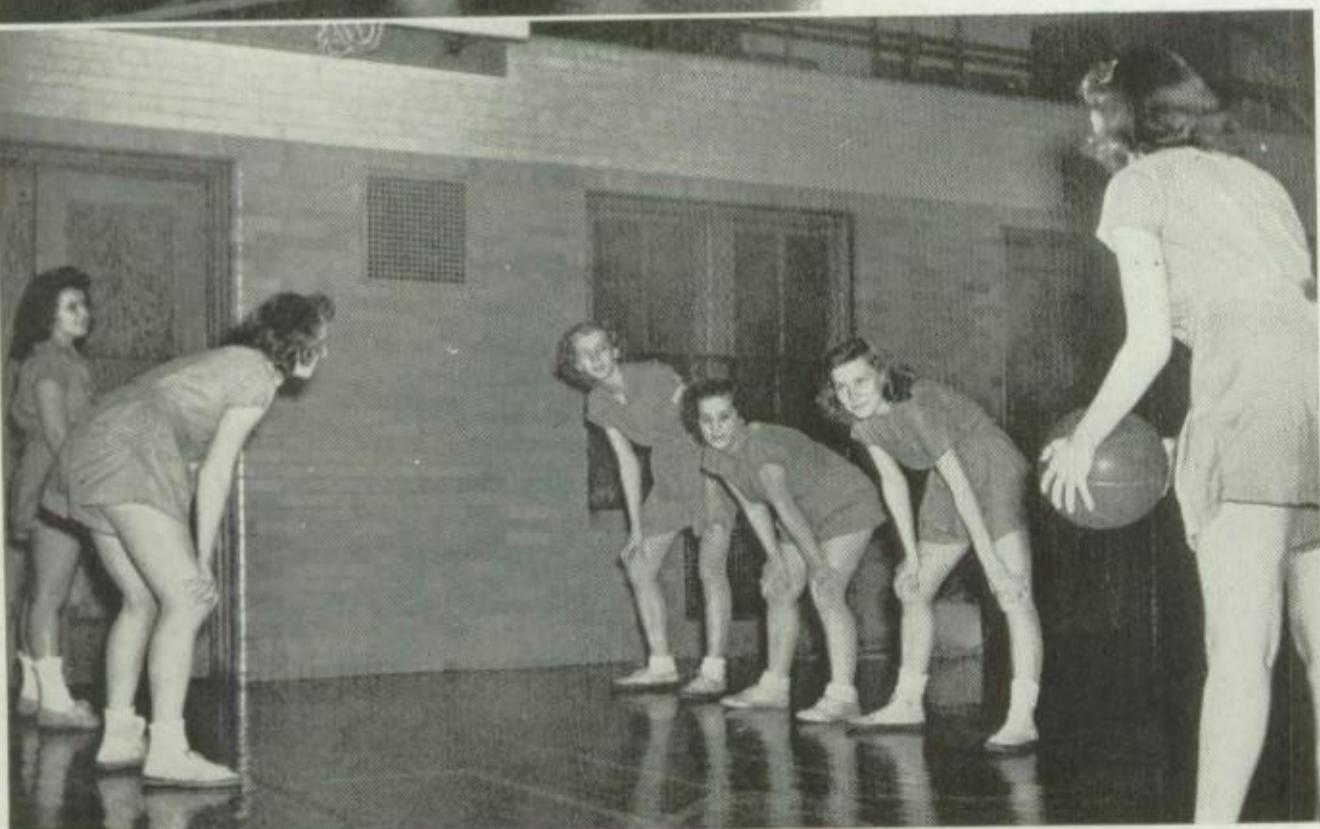

As usual, after-school classes were organized to supplement those of the regular school day. After practices for the two programs were completed, the classes were instructed in the waltz, tango, polka, and other dances not commonly taught. Exercises, leaps, skipping, and proper walking helped the girls to develop poise.

BASKETBALL

Basketball, played this year as an intramural sport, was enjoyed by many of our Amazons. The game requires much physical endurance, besides a thorough knowledge of rules and techniques. As with other classic team sports, at the end of the season a tournament was held to determine the winning class. The girls realize that actually playing the game is far more enjoyable and beneficial than being a mere spectator. Some of the more skilled players entered the telegraphic meet for shooting baskets, and fared very well.

SOFTBALL

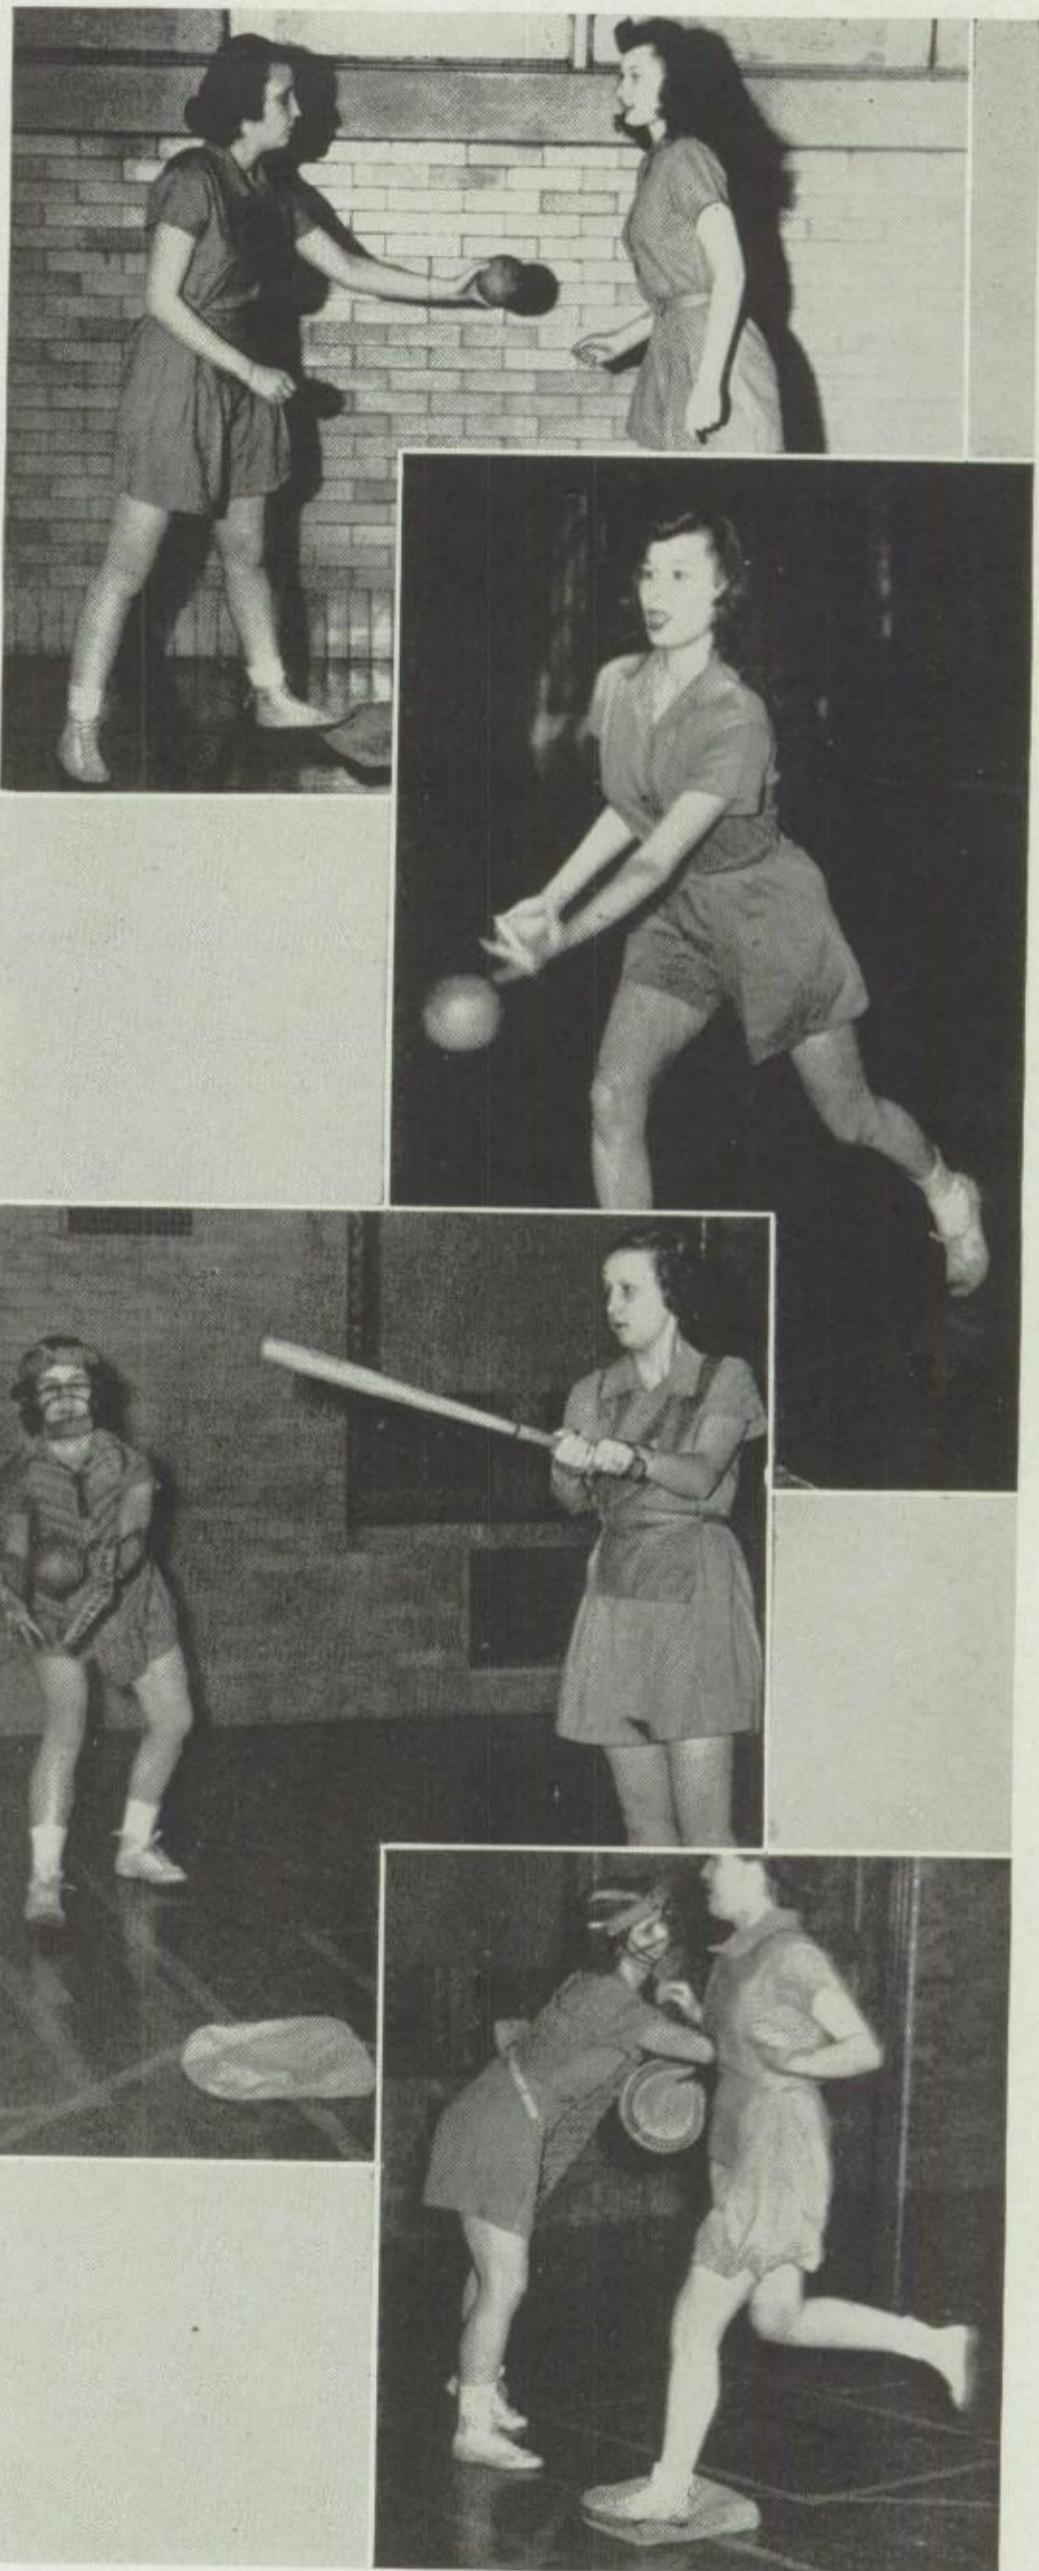

Again this year softball vied with tennis as a popular spring sport, for a great majority of Oak Park girls have one or the other of these when the weather turns warm. Each year softball tournaments are held, for which individual teams are chosen. Captains, names, positions, batting orders are all selected, and the games are played in a spirit of genuine competition. While the style of play is not strictly up to professional caliber, the players enjoy this means of exercise and fun.

PREPAREDNESS—the secret of security

DESIGN for Living

★ ★ Tomorrow's living can be designed today. You may plan a home, a trip abroad, or a future investment. It is a wise person who now "salts" away in a savings account that extra cash which will be so useful in making the purchases and doing the things wanted when victory is won.

At the Oak Park Trust and Savings Bank your savings account earns $1\frac{1}{4}$ per cent and is always available. It is insured to \$5,000 by the Federal Government. And your deposits help finance the war, as the bank invests the greater share in U. S. bonds.

Can you think of a better way to make your postwar plans come true than by building up your savings account at Oak Park Trust? Remember, prepare now for tomorrow's opportunities and tomorrow's security.

HAVE YOU A FUEL OIL PROBLEM ?

If you have any problems concerning heating or your allotment of Fuel Oil, bring them to us, and let us help you solve them. We have a number of experts on duty at all times.

Many of our customers have already taken advantage of this service, and have found it most helpful.

Because of the complexities incident to the rationing of Fuel Oil, Arrow inaugurated this service—you are invited to use it whether you are an Arrow customer or not.

Visit us any time you desire—a friendly welcome awaits you.

An Investment for the Future!

A safe investment with an income steadily increasing through the years will provide future security for you and your family. If you are considering an investment, large or small, we invite you to intrust your funds with this institution and earn a safe return of 3% currently on your money. All funds are insured up to $5,000.00 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an instrumentality of the United States government. Such earnings offer a truly attractive proposition and will build a substantial estate or fund when left undisturbed —a fund that will provide security, a home, an education, or other necessities in the future, if and when needed.
